- Overwatch 2 will be a free-to-play on all platforms, with an always-on and evolving live service that will introduce large content drops beyond launch on a nine-week seasonal cadence.
- A new hero will launch roughly every two seasons, and new maps and modes launching in the seasons in-between.
- Following the addition of the PvP map Rio, the second new map for Overwatch 2 was unveiled for the new Push game mode as being set in a near-future Portugal.
- After the damage dealer Sojourn and Tank hero Junker Queen, the third new hero available at launch is confirmed to be a Support—more details on this hero will be shared closer to launch.

SEASONAL UPDATES WILL BRING PVE IN 2023—

- Overwatch 2's much anticipated PvE experience will arrive in 2023 as part of the seasonal content structure, unlocking gradually throughout the year.
- PvE will move the story and lore of Overwatch forward and will feature varied encounters. In addition to PvE, more than 25,000 voice lines have been written for Overwatch 2, which include in-game voice interactions between each of Overwatch's heroes.

JUNKER QUEEN GAMEPLAY—

- Junker Queen's in-your-face Tank gameplay and ability kit was shared today. Wielding a giant axe, Junker Queen slices at foes, inflicting a wound effect. She can throw the blade as a skillshot, and retrieve it, which pulls any enemy hit by it towards her.
- Her ultimate, Ramage, has Junker Queen dash forward in a whirlwind of magnetized metals, dealing damage and tagging enemies with a healing negating debuff.
